Version 3

William Wasserzug
Arr. Stuart Izon

This splendid melody is understood to have been written by William Wasserzug, son of the famous composer Haim Wasserzug. Unlike his father, most of William's scores were not published and survived through manuscripts only. I am personally very familiar with this setting, as it is used in both orthodox synagogues in Birmingham: Central and Singers Hill (where most other UK congregations defer to Mombach's composition). It is written in ABCC form with a dramatic opening, a lighter section beginning "He shall receive blessing" in duple time with some rather unexpected harmony, and a dancelike theme for the final verses "O gates, lift up your heads!"
