

V'al Chataim

323a

Version 2

Louis Lewandowski
Arr. Stuart Izon

At the end of the longer form of the Vidui confession during each of the services on Yom Kippur (except N'ila), we confess to general sins which incur various forms of sacrifices or punishments. For all these sins we ask that God pardon us, forgive us and grant us atonement.

Although some congregations always recite this section quietly, it is customary in many communities to sing this section aloud in the confession during the chazzan's repetition. Lewandowski's melody is perhaps not as euphoric as the well-known Ashamnu melody, but it is still upbeat and joyous, despite the sombre and serious nature of these words. While it is counterintuitive that we should so proudly declare these sins aloud, I think that this fits under the same rubric Rav Soloveitchik uses to explain the singing of Ashamnu.

Moderato

Melody Alto

8

V' - al cha-ta - im she - a - nu cha-ya - vim a - lei - hem__
V' - al cha-ta - im she - a - nu cha-ya - vim a - lei - hem__

Tenor Bass

6

M
A

8

o - la v' - al cha - ta - im she - ma - kat mar - dut v' - al cha - ta - im she -

T
B

10

M
A

8

- a - nu cha-ya - vim a - lei - hem__ cha - tat v' -
- a - nu cha-ya - vim a - lei - hem mal - kut_ ar - ba - im v' -

T
B

14

M
A

8

-al cha-ta - im she - a - nu cha-ya - vim a - lei - hem kor -
 -al cha-ta - im she - a - nu cha-ya - vim a - lei - hem mi -

T
B

18

M
A

8

-ban o - le v'-yo - red v' - al cha-ta - im she-
 -ta bi - dei sha - ma - yim v' - al cha-ta - im she-

T
B

22

M
A

8

-a - nu cha-ya - vim a - lei - hem a - sham va - dai v' - ta - luy
 -a - nu cha-ya - vim a - lei - hem ka - ret va - a - ri - ri

T
B