

K'dusha

75a

Version 2

Yosef Tzvi Kahan
Arr. Stuart Izon

Though today K'dusha is often sung to popular tunes, there are traditional compositions written specifically for the words of this prayer. One of the most well known is this piece by Yosef Tzvi Kahan, who was chazzan at the Great Synagogue in Vilna towards the end of the 19th century.

Kahan was a gifted and charismatic young cantor whose remarkable voice, presence, and artistry won him the admiration of the great Vilna community. His brilliant career was derailed by a scandal on Yom Kippur, when a gabbai accused him of eating a candy before Musaf—a charge Kahan denied but which split the congregation and escalated into a bitter communal feud. Despite attempts to clear his name, intrigue and resentment made rehabilitation impossible, and he left Vilna a broken man, unable to escape the shadow of the incident. Though still talented, he declined physically and spiritually in subsequent posts, dying young and leaving behind the tragic memory of a star whose ascent was cut short. It is unclear whether he wrote any other compositions, or indeed if he completed the music for the last two stanzas of this K'dusha.
